

Improved search and localized marketing videos now available in the HP Video Library

June 2, 2015

Since the new, fully branded HP Video Library was released in February, we have increased your experience:

Improved search experience

You can now restrict search within a particular taxonomy item. Select the taxonomy element of interest to display related videos, and make sure you click on the checkbox below the search box before you look for a particular search term.

Localized marketing videos now available

We have improved content availability by 30% adding localized versions of the videos, if existing. Just enter the name of the language in the search box to find them*.
